

12 REASONS TO WORK WITH A JOB PLACEMENT AGENCY

1. Numbers don't lie

Job placement agencies place nearly 16 million workers yearly.¹

2. 80 percent of jobs aren't posted online²

A recruiter can help you find hidden jobs and prevent you from wasting your time.

3. Test-drive a career

Partnering with a job placement agency gives you the freedom to try things out without a long-term commitment.

4. Grow your professional network

Working with a job placement agency will expose you to a new network of company contacts and professionals in your industry.

5. Get a foot in the door

Even if the company doesn't have any full-time positions open, you'll be on their radar when new opportunities are available.

6. Earn some cold, hard cash

The hiring process through a job placement agency can be very quick, and offers a fast way to start making money to pay off your student loan, save for a trip to Europe, or nail your next financial goal.

7. Flexibility if you're still in school

A recruiter can help you find seasonal, holiday, or gap year work to gain experience, earn money and make connections at a pace that works for your schedule.

8. Temporary work builds experience

You can put classroom theory to use and gain exposure in your field. Listing experience with diverse companies and positions helps to build your resume.

9. Access to training

Many job placement agencies offer complementary training courses to improve skills that will make you more marketable.

10. Make your parents proud

Show your parents that you're focused, hardworking, and eager to gain valuable work experience.

11. Build a bridge to a permanent position

Approximately 1/3 of temporary workers are offered permanent jobs by employers. Completing assignments with your first-choice employer or a competitor increases these odds.³

12. Give yourself a boost

The transition from college to professional life can be challenging. Having someone on your side to help you get out there and quickly land a job will build your professional confidence.
